

BAYON GARDENS

LUXURIOUS DESIGN

NEXT-LEVEL LANDSCAPING

This incredible project was designed by Sean Dowling, the creative director at Bayon Gardens. The client's brief was to create a modern pool area with clean lines that maximised usable space.

To achieve this, the team incorporated a raised spa with negative-edge walls, which allow the water to spill onto the deck and into the pool. The company also added a beach entry with three steppers that connect to the other side of the pool. White and grey glass mosaic pool tiles give the water a stunning aqua colour, while the raised garden beds double as seating areas and create visual cohesion between the levels.

The main function behind the design was to create two main levels that cater for several activities. The spa sits on the top section of paving, while the pool was set 700mm lower. The 4.5m natural slope of the boundary presented a unique design and construction challenge, which the team expertly overcame with finesse.
